

BOMB BLASTS

People of Pakistan including law enforcement agencies are under constant attack by the militants with no relief whatsoever. The death toll on daily basis is very alarming. Just imagine 96 innocent people killed in one day in Quetta blast with over 200 people sustained injuries some of them in serious condition. Karachi is continuously facing target killings on daily basis, only the figures keep changing there is no respite. But look at our priorities the government is under the grip of long march; Prime Minister is busy in diverting funds to legislators to win their loyalties in coming elections. Political parties all and sundry are busy in sorting out each other and have no interest for the common man who are busy in burying their dead ones

Military check posts are being attacked, soldiers being kidnapped only to be beheaded and shot openly by militants. The media needs to be more active and instead of wasting time on political talk shows must define some strategy to combat this menace of terrorism and highlight Indian involvement in creating unrest in Baluchistan and FATA and supporting the separatist elements and should air motivational programmes for these militants to take the right path

Islam is religion of peace and harmony. It advocates virtues of goodness and teaches social integrity for humanity. Religious indoctrination of youth for carrying out suicide bombing is totally against sagacious wisdom and teachings of Islam. Killing of innocent people is forbidden in Islam as the Holy Quran says 'Killing of a human being is equivalent to killing of the entire human race'. Various Islamic decrees (fatwa's) have also been issued by renowned Ulema of the Islamic world against suicide attacks and bomb blasts to affirm that killing of innocent people through suicide and bomb blasts is un-Islamic. Unfortunately militants are pursuing their politically motivated agendas and are declaring their brutal acts of terrorism as Jihad against their own people, that needs to be countered effectively. Time is running fast let all political parties unite on one agenda how to stop killing of innocent people. Any government that fails to protect the life and property of citizens have no right to govern and therefore they must quit and pave way for those who can bring peace in the country.
